2025-26

Dr. Rajanish Kamat
Hon. Vice-Chancellor

Message

Welcome to the vibrant world of Sir J J School of Arts, Architecture, and Design, now proudly recognized as a De-Novo Deemed to be University. As the Vice Chancellor, it brings me immense joy to extend a heartfelt welcome to all students, faculty, staff, alumni, and visitors to our illustrious institution.

Our journey begins with a rich tapestry of history woven by our constituent institutes, each leaving an indelible mark since its inception. The Sir J.J. School of Art, established in 1857 as the Bombay School of Art & Industry, owes its genesis to the benevolence of Sir Jamshedji Jeejeebhoy. From its humble beginnings, it has blossomed into a holistic institution offering a plethora of departments encompassing drawing, painting, sculpture, modeling, mural art, portraiture, printmaking, ceramics, interior decoration, metalwork, textiles, and more. With a legacy of nurturing artistic talent, our school has been a upbringing ground for revolutionary artists, leaving an indelible mark on the global art scene.

In the late 19th century, the fusion of architectural learning with art education laid the groundwork for the birth of the Sir JJ College of Architecture in 1952. Renowned as one of the premier architecture colleges in the country, our college has shaped the architectural landscape of Mumbai and beyond. Through a blend of academic excellence and innovation, we continue to steer the realms of art, architecture, and design towards new horizons.

The Sir J J Institute of Applied Art, established in 1935 within our campus, attained independent institute status in 1961. Accredited by the All-India Council for Technical Education, New Delhi, the institute offers a Bachelor of Fine Arts (B.F.A.) degree in Applied Art. With a mission to provide professional training in Visual Communication, our institute equips students with the skills needed to thrive in diverse creative fields.

Our heritage campus, 'the Sir JJ Art Campus', is home to several heritage buildings, a reflection of our global recognition. Our esteemed alumni, including Padma Awardees, Pritzker Prize winners, Members of Parliament, Oscar Awardees, and more, reflect the pinnacle of excellence our institution has achieved.

As we embark on this journey of celebration and anticipation, I invite you to join us in fostering creativity, exploration, and academic brilliance. Together, let us continue to inspire, innovate, and shape the future of art, architecture, and design.

History & Legacy

Established in 1857, Sir JJ School of Art has pioneered Art, Architecture and Design education and practice in India. It was named after Sir Jamshedji Jeejeebhoy, the first Baronet from India, who had generously donated Rupee 100,000 for its establishment. The campus boasts nine acres of space and has been recognised by the government of India as a heritage campus. Since then, all the schools at JJ have established a proven track record of setting domain-specific standards for the past 160 years. Located in the prime location of South Mumbai, all three schools of JJ rest at the single heritage campus, recognized worldwide as the Sir JJ Art Campus.

The first drawing class at the school began on March 2, 1857. In 1866, the management of the school was taken over by the Government of India. Three ateliers were set up in 1865: (i) Decorative Paintings, (ii) Modelling, and (iii) Ornamental Wrought Iron Work. Drawing instruction was introduced as a subject in 1879, and a training programme for drawing teachers began in 1893. The Department of Art-Crafts was founded in 1891. The School of Architecture offered its first course in 1900. The Draughtsman's classes, which formed the foundation of the Department of Architecture, were added in 1896. The Sir George Clarke Studies and Laboratories were built in 1910 for the advanced study of crafts, starting with pottery. A decade after Indian independence, the Departments of Architecture and Applied Art had been renamed the 'Sir J. J. College of Architecture' and the 'Sir J. J. Institute of Applied Art' respectively. In 1981, the School became affiliated with the University of Mumbai.

Over the years the institution has nurtured students into becoming pioneers in their respective fields. They continue to bring glory to JJ to this day. Most practicing creative leaders in art, architecture and design have walked on these hallowed grounds.

The Nobel prize winner, Sir Rudyard Kipling, was born on the campus. The institution prides itself on producing alumni who have proved their mettle: from India's first Oscar award winner to India's first Pritzker's award (the highest award in architecture). Our students have bagged about sixteen Padma awards, our nation's premier civilian award honouring the brightest stars in their field.

The alumni of our school have also helped in founding Institutions of National importance and international repute such as the National Institute of Design (NID), the Industrial Design Centre (IIT-B), the Center for Environmental Planning and Technology, the Indian Institute of Architects, the Council of Architecture, the National Association of Students of Architecture and so on. Needless to say, excellence is the bedrock of all three schools (Art, Architecture and Applied Art) on the JJ campus!

The Vision:

To transform the creative education ecosystem by providing inclusive, interdisciplinary and sustainable design education and nurturing new generations of art and design professionals, and, while acknowledging diversity and the individual voice, humanizing design in the service of society.

The Mission:

- To allow new and alternate ways of seeing to flourish, bringing in humanistic and sustainable change through art, architecture and design.
- To facilitate contemporary art and design education through the appreciation of critical theories in the classroom and the innovation in the design studio, from thought and process to production.
- To understand the world we live in, to appreciate and address through empathetic design, its various concerns through the rigorous development of new design research processes.
- To actively seek out and develop collaborative practices with academic and research institutes, with artists and design professionals around the world, to become a significant change-maker in the art, design and research ecosystem.

New Multidisciplinary University

In our new multidisciplinary university, all three schools have integrated their combined expertise and specializations. The new institutional reorganization is the following:

- School of Art
- School of Architecture (formerly, Sir JJ College of Architecture)
- School of Design (formerly, Sir JJ Institute of Applied Art)
- Proposed Department of Humanities

Along with the proposed Humanities School, we are now implementing ground-breaking, cutting-edge Art, Architecture, and Design curricula, unique to the country. The curricula adhere to the National Education Policy's liberal agenda, and will be honoured in all the programs offered by the new university
